

Dear colleague teachers and students,

The learning process in the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine goes further in the online forms suitable for sustainable training, knowledge development and evaluation. In this “difficult times” during the Covid19 emergency situations, it is a huge challenge not only for Bulgarian veterinary medicine but for all the educational systems in Europe and there is no questions at all, it is really difficult to move from the actual physical form of training into the form of distance education. For me, as a Dean of the Faculty, it is a pleasure to see that faculty lecturers and all the students get organized in a few days, and they enforced their skills and capacity to make sustainable progress.

From the 12th to the 20th of March, we have organized our lectures and practical classes in the file system through regular files upload in “Moodle platform” and from the 23rd of March, we have started our activity by the interactive system through “Google meeting” and other electronic platforms in more precise and communicative "live-teaching and discussion" virtual lecture rooms.

Evaluation forms by the models of Tests or Tasks in the Moodle are in the process of development and soon will be available for our veterinary students (in the middle of April and after Easter).

The activity in the Moodle and the “live-teaching” could be seen in the pages below separated, by subjects and semesters.

Best regards

Assoc. Prof. T. Stoyanchev, DVM, PhD

Dean of the Faculty of Veterinary medicine
