

How to use Remote access to electronic resources

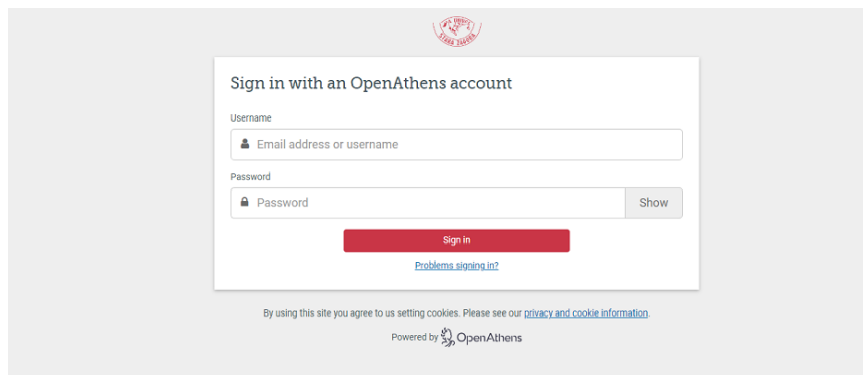

On the main page of Trakia University, follow the “Library” link. Click on “Remote access to electronic resources.”

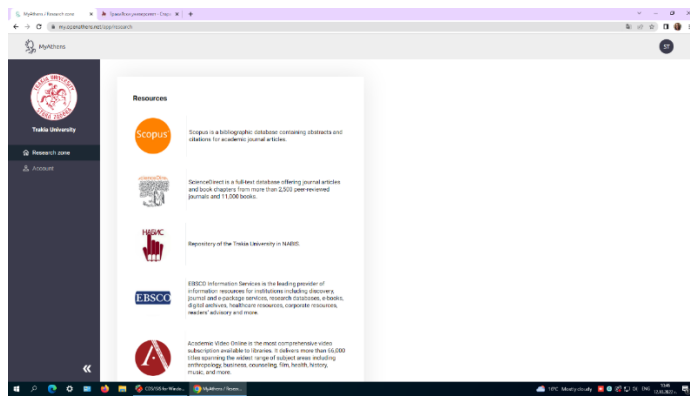

Select an institution in the window that appears. Type in “Trakia university”, if it doesn’t appear automatically.

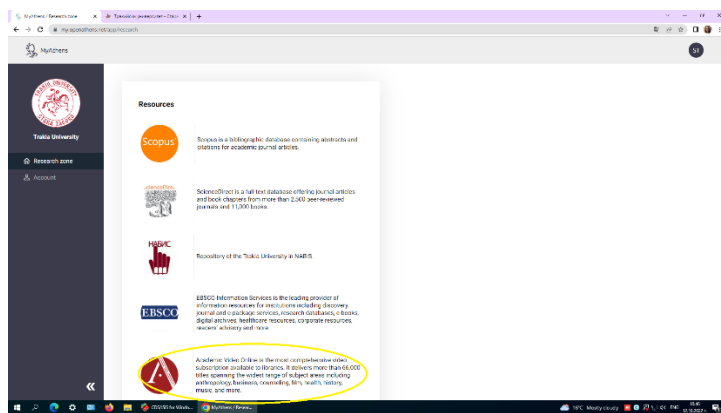

After this, type in your Username and Password, which you received from your Faculty’s administrators.

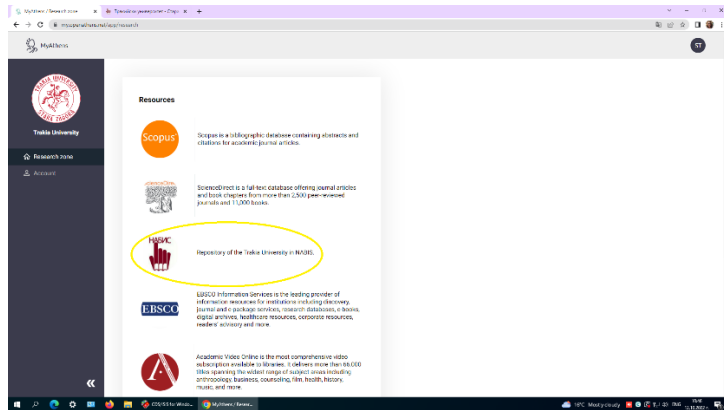

A window appears, which has links to electronic resources.

In the section Veterinary Education in Video you can view more than 800 videos, which explain and demonstrate more than 600 medical procedures. They encompass clinical skills, as well as training in techniques and medical care for various animals and birds. The materials are in English.

In Repository of the Trakia university – the link will take you to NALIS (National Academic Library-Information System). From there, you select the NALIS repository – Trakia University – Stara Zagora – Student assistance literature – Faculty of veterinary Medicine. Here you can view books in Bulgarian and English, in the field of veterinary medicine.

Under EBSCO – the link takes you to EBSCOhost Research Databases – click on eBook Academic Collection (EBSCOhost) – here you may access a large number of electronic books from all fields of human knowledge. From this platform, you can also use Academic Search Complete – it gives access to 8500 journals, in full text.

Under ScienceDirect – you can read and download, in PDF format, a large number of English articles from all fields of science. Here you will find articles from leading journals in Veterinary medicine.
